Activity alerts help you plan for what's next

Get alerts for upcoming activities and meetings for the day. Upcoming activities and your most recent activities are displayed in a feed designed around social interaction, so you can plan your day and see what's happened based on history items that you or other users created.

History items go from your phone to Act! Premium

Capture important history items on your phone while in meetings with your contacts. Easily associate history to your Act! Premium contacts or other users with @mentions. Your updates are sent to Act! Premium where you can take action on them later.

Quick access to 'business cards' makes it easy to email or call your contacts

Email or call your Act! Premium contacts directly from the app. Simply view a list of your Act! Premium contacts from Act! Companion and click through to see their 'business card' with additional details. Select their email address to send an email from the mail app on your phone or select their phone number to dial out.

Intelligent notifications keep you on task and on time

Benefit from intelligent notifications to stay on task and on time. A push notification system informs you when new contacts, activities, and history items are created. See these notifications and a description of each item via a pop-up on the home screen of your phone.
